Rodney:

All three customers that filed comments at the FCC should be receiving service from their new carriers now.

Communications Services' 800 toll free numbers were released to its new carrier Monday morning March 6, 2006. The new carrier now has the responsibility to provide 800 toll free service for Communications Services' 800 numbers.

The ICU.Net 800 toll free numbers were released Wednesday morning March 1, 2006. Again, the new carrier is now responsible for providing service for the ICU.Net 800 numbers.

Munn Supply 800 toll free numbers were released Thursday March 9, 2006. Again, the new carrier is now responsible for providing service for the Munn Supply 800 numbers.

CGI did not turn down any service until the morning of March 3, 2006. On the morning of March 3, 2006, CGI turned down out bound service only. CGI also accommodated any customers who called and requested that their out bound service be turned back up.

CGI turned down 800 toll free service Monday morning March 6, 2006. CGI accommodated any customers who called and requested that their 800 toll free service be turned back up.

CGI does not intend to bill any customers for any of their March usage as a further accommodation.

CGI completed turning down all outbound and toll free services for all customers at 2:15 today March 10, 2006. CGI has not received any request to turn back up any customers as of 5:00 today March 10, 2006. CGI does not intend to turn any service back up unless there are special circumstances that warrant CGI to accommodate that customer.

Give me a call if you have further questions or need additional information.
